

«In Every Line»

(Eng) Translated by Tatyana Ivakhnina

Full stops in every line
After the letter «L».
Can you decipher letters fine?
If yes, then very well.

* * *

Other confessions run along
The text after a comma.
I'll tell you a prosaic song
Of towns most uncommon.

* * *

I'll tell you just a little more
About my precious dreams,
About the nights when I can soar
Into the sky, it seems.

* * *

About the distant peaks of mirth
That stand for us alone.
I think the theme is really worth
Singing in a bright tone.

* * *

And in a pause, we'll dance a bit,
Reflecting all in verse.
And then, we'll paint the gist of it,
Colours to bloom and burst.

* * *

Full stops in every line
After the letter «L».
Can you decipher letters fine?
If yes, then very well.
